

UNDERGRADUATE MINORS

Five, 15-credit minors are offered by the College: Agribusiness, Animal Science, Entomology, Food and Nutritional Sciences, and Global Agriculture. The first four are strongly associated with existing majors or degrees and supplement these areas of major study. Contact program leaders in each area for more information. The Global Agriculture minor prepares students to engage in international careers in public, private, and non-governmental sectors. Students in the Global Agriculture minor must enhance their academic experience through participation in a global opportunity in agriculture.
